If you are a few days or weeks or months or years back with your correspondence, Postmaster Gen. Farley has set apart a special week for you to catch up on your penmanship and stamps. The week of Oct. 2 to 8 is to be known as National Letter Writing week. You are not only urged to meet your delayed obligations, but start something in the way of new correspondence. Knowing Frank Harwood as I do I am sure that he will cooperate with the postmaster general. He has the nicest line of stamps which you can buy at regular prices. No extra charge. You "come and get 'em." He has 'em ready for you.

Another special week has been set apart for that profession which gets up early and goes to bed late—the newspaper. Governor Merriam has called for this observance. Of course the governor is a candidate for re-election, but the recognition, so I am informed and inclined to believe, is purely unselfish politically. The special week begins Oct. 2 and under favorable circumstances may last that long. There is a lot being said about the freedom of the press, the inviolate constitution, and the public weal as it emanates from newspaper columns. Also something about moulding public opinion, and that's o.k. if it isn't too mouldy. But after all, the newspaper with all of its faults is doing a good job keeping the equilibrium of public thinking, and tolerant with those who disagree. Sometimes I think too much so. However, thanks to the governor for helping us keep our profession before the people.

Four weary and thirsty travelers, returning from a trip to the place which the angels deserted, stopped, as wayfarers often do, for rest and refreshment. The Neon sign gave inviting evidence. It seemed to be the place which had long been sought. It had everything right down to the infectious welcome from the waitress. But when the order went in—well, it wasn't like the mail. It failed to go through. The little lady threw a wet blanket over the party when she came through with the information that in that particular part of Orange county an election was being held, and if the thirsty could wait until 7 o'clock the order would be filled. And believe it or

Charleston, S. C., Heavily Damaged By Sudden Storm

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—A tornado hit historic Charleston with sudden and vicious fury at about 8 a. m. today, killed at least 22 persons and injured probably 300 more in a welter of wreckage that was spotted throughout the city.

The sudden storm of not more than a minute's duration in any one place, was paced by a torrential downpour as it swept down with devastating destruction on various parts of the city.

DOCTORS CALLED
Of the 22 reported killed, 15 were negroes. The dead were not immediately identified except these four white persons:
Mrs. Ruth Mehrtens, 26; Irvin H. Mehrtens, 3, Miriam Zeigler, 14, and Floyd Singletary, 9, all of 25 Market street. They were killed when their house collapsed in the twinkling of an eye.

ROOF BLOWN AWAY
An emergency call was sent out from Roper hospital, Charleston's largest, for all physicians to report there immediately as the injured were being brought there by every available conveyance.

A negro Baptist church in the heart of the city was demolished but it was unoccupied at the time. The roof of the city hall was blown away, and the Timrod Inn, a small hotel, in the same vicinity was badly damaged.

A negro Baptist church in the heart of the city was demolished but it was unoccupied at the time. The roof of the city hall was blown away, and the Timrod Inn, a small hotel, in the same vicinity was badly damaged.

In every direction as far as the eye could see, there was a vision of unroofed buildings and other wreckage.

The first apparently roared in from the west across the Ashley river bridge, he said. It did not approach the weather bureau near enough for the instruments to record it.

The second came in from the southwest a few minutes later and struck the battery, the southern tip of Charleston. A wind velocity of 72 miles an hour, just three miles less than hurricane force, was recorded for this blow, Lockwood said.

Ex-Local Man Said Slayer

Thomas H. Joy, 48-year-old Irish-Canadian who went to San Quentin for absconding with funds of a Fullerton meat market in 1930, was sought by Los Angeles police today for questioning in connection with the shotgun slaying of a 43-year-old wealthy divorcee.

Defectives said they learned they learned Joy threatened Mrs. Ruth Voorhees, found dead in her luxurious home early today, after she told him she planned to break off their friendship and expose his prison record.

Authorities said they found the death weapon, a 10-gauge shotgun found outside the woman's home, and a wine bottle bearing tell-tale fingerprints.

Slain by a shotgun blast 24 hours after she told police a former man friend had threatened her life, Mrs. Voorhees was found partly clad in her San Fernando valley home early this morning. Neighbors said they saw her return to the house last night, carefully turn on porch lights and enter the house cautiously.

Nothing else was noticed until the single shot rang out.

POLICE AID SOUGHT
Aileen Sharpe, Mrs. Voorhees' roomer, disclosed that the comely divorcee had made repeated pleas to police for a bodyguard, saying her life had been threatened.

The slayer apparently lay in wait during the evening until Mrs. Voorhees came home, then fired at her through a French door as she undressed in her bedroom.

Joy was sentenced to San Quentin by Superior Judge G. K. Seaved here in 1931 after his plea for probation on a grand theft charge was denied. He was released in 1934.

THEFT CHARGED
He was accused of stealing $239 in receipts of the Fullerton store Feb. 10, 1930, and was arrested the next year by Oakland police on the local warrant.

A butcher by trade, Joy assertedly left the market on a Saturday night with $188.70 in receipts of the store, not depositing them because he said, there was $55 more coming in on Monday.

He went to Los Angeles, according to statements at his trial, and began drinking with a group of men. Then he lost the money in a poker game.

His attempts to raise the money from friends were futile, and he assertedly fled the county. His record showed several arrests on charges of failing to support his two sons and on gambling accusations; and it also showed an arrest for grand theft under similar circumstances in Oakland previously. Those charges were not pressed, however, because Joy made restitution of the money to his employers.

Bund Tie To Envoy Charged

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A house committee investigator charged today that Fritz Kuhn, leader of the German-American bund, had admitted to a "secret relationship" between the bund and Dr. Hans Dieckhoff, German ambassador to the United States.

The investigator, John C. Metcalfe, told the committee assigned to an investigation of un-American activities, that the bund relationship also extended to German consuls in this country.

Metcalfe recalled that when the committee first started hearings it received testimony Kuhn had claimed he had been responsible for the removal of Dr. Hans Luther, the German ambassador whom Dieckhoff replaced last May.

Metcalfe also contended in the course of his testimony that the bund works closely with the officials of German steamship lines and with propaganda agencies in Germany.

"Thus," he said, "with favorable German consuls, the assistance of steamship officials, German railway tourist agencies, motion picture companies of Germany, imported speakers and propaganda agents, the German-American bund hopes to accomplish its aim of uniting all Americans of German descent, or birth, under its swastika banners, in the United States."

He introduced evidence to show that Nazi propaganda was being distributed by at least one German consulate, saying "there is a package of several pieces of Nazi propaganda, mailed out to an American citizen by the German consulate in St. Louis. It was mailed only a few months ago following appointment of this congressional committee."

"For fear of reprisal the person to whom this Nazi propaganda was addressed has made special request that his name be withheld."

PICTURES PRESENTED
A sworn statement which Metcalfe said was signed by Frank Davin, charged that Gustave Brand, treasurer of the city of San Francisco, had made special request that his name be withheld.

"Brand said," the Davin statement continued, "that he and certain commercial interests, which he did not name, were prepared to send sizeable amount of money to have this work done. He explained that the publicity was to be of such nature as to offset current anti-Nazi propaganda in this country."

Metcalfe introduced then a series of photographs which he said showed consular officials addressing bund gatherings. He declared these were in "direct contradiction of Brand's statement."

Metcalfe also brought into his testimony the name of Manfred Von Killinger, assigned to be consul general at San Francisco in June, 1937. He said that Kuhn had told him that Von Killinger "is the kind of consul we want everywhere."

Avocado Drop Of 23,000,000 Bounds Will Set New High Mark

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The California avocado crop for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 will be approximately 23,000,000 pounds, the largest in the young industry's history the Calavo Growers of California estimated today.

The cooperative's estimates are based on 16,000,000 for its own members, which number approximately 70 per cent of the growers. The largest previous crop was in the 1934-35 season, which reached 19,000,000 pounds.

More than 185 new members with some 45,000 acres have signed up to take advantage of the organization's marketing facilities and it has increased its advertising program in an effort to find new consumers.

Calavo growers handled 7,000,000 pounds of avocados this year and will face a marketing task more than doubled, at 16,000,000 pounds for the 1938-39 season.

"The marketing cost per flat, due largely to the larger crop, will be reduced some 40 per cent from that for the season ending this month," said George B. Hodg-kin, cooperative manager.

"Although the advertising fund to boost national demand for avocados will be greatly advanced in total, the investment per flat by the grower will be considerably less than for the current season.

'Token Occupation' Of Sudeten To Be Allowed

In Munich, the same city from which Adolf Hitler rose to power 15 years ago, the heads of Europe's four major powers, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, Premier Daladier, Premier Mussolini, and Hitler, met to decide the fate of Europe. This is one of the principal streets of the city.

CZECHS, WITH RESERVATIONS, AGREE TO SUDETEN PROPOSALS

PRAGUE. (AP)—The Czechoslovak government announced today it had agreed in principle and with some reservations to a British proposal for gradual application of the French-British plan to cede the Sudetenland to Germany.

Voltech, Masny, Czechoslovak minister to Berlin, was sent by airplane to Munich to tell the four-power conference there of the Czechoslovak position.

A new border clash on the Sudetenland frontier with Germany was reported. Czechoslovaks charged some attacking Sudeten Germans were the field gray of German army uniforms.

One Sudeten was reported killed and two injured in the clash with a Czechoslovak border patrol of Raitzenhain, near Komotau.

A communique announced that Prague "adopted a positive attitude in principle toward British proposals regarding the execution, by degrees, of delimitation and of transfer of the territories."

DEWEY PICKED FOR GOVERNOR
SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey, Manhattan's 36-year-old racket busting prosecutor, was nominated by acclamation by the Republican state convention today as the party's candidate for governor.

The convention previously had adopted a platform built around District Attorney Dewey's record as prosecutor.

The declaration of state policy contained a pledge for "complete elimination" of "the alliance between the underworld and certain forms of politics," a system condemned as a "menace."

JAP FOREIGN MINISTER OUT
TOKYO. (AP)—The resignation of Foreign Minister General Kazushige Ugaki, who had differed with the army over China policy, was announced officially tonight.

General Ugaki, on the army retired list, long has been at odds with the dominant faction in the army over the general lines of imperial policy.

His appointment as foreign minister in the cabinet shakeup of last May 28 was considered an indication that Japan might follow a more moderate course with respect to the China war and relations with other powers.

His disagreement with the army over administration of the new China affairs board was considered the reason for his resignation.

L. A. Bankers Hit $30-Thursdays Plan
LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The Los Angeles Clearing House association went on record today against the proposed "$30 every Thursday" pension plan which will be on the state ballot in November.

With the observation that "the so-called warrants (to be issued under the plan) are not and cannot be made legal tender," the association made public its stand in a resolution announced by President V. H. Rossetti.

Withdrawal of Czechs, Issue

MUNICH.—German and British spokesmen express hopes for peace as Hitler, Mussolini, Chamberlain and Daladier continue conference on Czechoslovak crisis.

LONDON.—Tension eases in Britain, but war preparations continue.

PARIS.—New decree gives Daladier power to put France on wartime footing at moment's notice.

PRAGUE.—Czechoslovakia accepts new British peace plan "in principle," rushes observer to Munich by plane.

MOSCOW.—Soviet Russia says Chamberlain aids Hitler by attending Munich conference.

ROME.—Italy ceases sending men and supplies to Spain as result of international crisis, but denies withdrawal of troops from civil war.

TOKYO.—Foreign Minister Ugaki resigns because of differences over Chinese war policies.

WARSAW.—Poland awaits Prague reply to proposed settlement of Polish minority problem.

LONDON. (AP)—The Czechoslovak legation disclosed today that Czechoslovakia had suggested that the whole Sudeten German issue be submitted to President Roosevelt if other efforts to solve it fail.

The announcement, which gave details of further concessions by the Prague government to ease the Munich conference, stated "the Czechoslovak government submit completely to such a course in advance."

MUNICH. (AP)—A German government spokesman said tonight that the four power Munich conference, seeking a new basis for European peace, had practically reached an agreement for a "token occupation" of the Sudetenland by the German army.

While the German chancellor and the premiers of Britain, France and Italy still were negotiating in the glistening Fuehrerhaus. The spokesman said only one difficulty remained:

"The question of just how quickly and from what point the Czechoslovak army must be withdrawn to permit Adolf Hitler's troops to march into the Sudetenland."

The spokesman said he believed documents embracing agreements which he expected to be reached tonight would be signed tomorrow at the latest.

MAY AGREE TONIGHT
This indicated the hope that the Prague government, to which the virtual agreement of Hitler, Prime Minister Chamberlain, Premier Daladier and Premier Mussolini was to be submitted, might send an acceptance tonight.

The four government heads had begun their second session of the day at 4:45 p. m. (7:45 a. m. PST). Earlier they had been in conference for two hours, and during a two-hour suspension members of both the German and British delegations expressed confidence of an early agreement.

UP TO EXPERTS
Meeting against the background of a Europe still hurring war preparations and with the question of life or death for millions hanging on their decisions, the four continued their discussions into the night.

Conceivably, the spokesman said, the big four might soon turn their discussions over to technical experts to work out the last details, with agreement on main problems achieved.

French Premier Given 'Big Stick' For Use At Munich Conference

MOBILIZATION ARRANGED BY PHONED ORDER

PARIS. (AP)—Premier Edouard Daladier was given a "big stick" to wield at the Munich conference today when he was empowered by a new decree to effect instant military and civil mobilization of the entire nation.

The decree, published in the official journal, made it possible for the premier to put the whole French nation on an instant war footing by a simple telephone call from Munich.

It authorized the government to proceed at its discretion with integral mobilization of man power, industry and finance throughout the nation.

The decree said only "execution of measures contained in the law of July 11, 1938, is authorized," but that law provides for complete mobilization in time of war, or danger of war.

The law also includes general mobilization of armed forces, and Premier Daladier now is in a position to order it when and if he considers it necessary, without further legal steps.

Under the law, women as well as men may be conscripted for defense work. All industry could be nationalized immediately under the national defense ministry.

It affects all French men and women over 18 years.

The law also provided for uniting armed forces of France under a single national defense chief of staff—in this case, General Maurice Gustave Gamelin.

Four thousand persons, mostly foreigners, were questioned in a police roundup through Paris in a drive against undesirable aliens. Forty-five were arrested, probably to be expelled from the country on the grounds their residence permits are not in order. The nationalities were not made public.

The Thursday edition of the royalist paper L'Action Francaise was seized by police after carrying an attack on Alexis Leger, secretary-general of the foreign ministry, who is with Daladier at Munich, and other officials of the foreign office.

The government used wartime police power to check a campaign for "peace at any price" by the rightist, former premier, Pierre Etienne Flandin.

Police ripped down the posters he pasted on city billboards declaring the quarrel between France and Germany over Czechoslovakia was a "despicable pretext" for war and calling on the public to protest.

Issues of the newspaper La Liberte, which reprinted Flandin's appeal, were confiscated and many sellers were arrested.

As the government staked its own hopes for peace on the conference in Munich, Flandin said he would ask a formal question in the chamber of deputies demanding by what right the government violated "liberty of individual opinion." (Parliament is not now in session.)

Permission Given To Jam Passengers On Cargo Ships

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The commerce department authorized cargo vessels today to carry extra passengers from Europe in order to facilitate the return of Americans trying to get away from the threat of war.

Similar permission previously had been given for passenger ships. In both cases, the ships may carry as many passengers as they have life preservers or life rafts.

German Ships On Coast Will Return

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—Six freight and passenger ships operated by the Hamburg-American line between Germany and Pacific ports are under orders today to return at once to Hamburg. A seventh, the Tacoma, left last night, a day ahead of schedule, after notifying 52 passengers their sailings had been cancelled.

Austrian Leader In World War Dies

After the Austro-German Anschluss, Krauss was elected a member of the German Reichstag. Chancellor Hitler gave him the right to wear the German army uniform.

LEAGUE JOINS ROOSEVELT IN PEACE APPEAL

GENEVA. (AP)—The League of Nations assembly today passed unanimously a resolution associating itself with President Roosevelt's messages to European governments in efforts to preserve peace.

The resolution declared said the assembly "welcomes and fully associates itself" with President Roosevelt's messages — one to President Benes and Chancellor Hitler, and the second to Hitler alone.

It expressed "earnest hope," that no government would attempt to "impose settlement by force" on Europe.

The Cuban delegation initiated drafting of the resolution. Two passages from the original draft were stricken before final adoption.

One was that objected to by Rumanians, expressing hope "that negotiations under the most appropriate form will be carried through until an accord is reached," and another by Polish delegates, speaking of the "tremendous responsibility" of trying to impose settlement by force.

Irish Take Over Coast Protection

CORK, Ireland. (AP)—British soldiers manning forts on Bere island were replaced today by Irish troops who now guard the entire southern coast.

Withdrawal of the British soldiers, in accordance with the Anglo-Irish understanding, was advanced three weeks.

NEW YORK TO PRAY

NEW YORK. (AP)—Mayor La Guardia in a special proclamation urged all New Yorkers to spend five minutes praying for world peace at 12:30 p. m. today while the four-power parley is underway at Munich.

Poisonous Snakes In London Zoo to Die If War Comes

LONDON. (AP)—Elaborate war precautions were taken today at the London zoo.

If war comes, all poisonous snakes and spiders will be killed immediately.

Keepers have been armed to kill any animals escaping from bomb-damaged cages.

Deep pits were dug under zoo gardens to store some animals.

HITLER POWER STRENGTHENED, RUSSIANS SAY

MOSCOW. (AP)—Soviet Russia, watching the four-power Munich conference from the sidelines, took the pessimistic view today that Prime Minister Chamberlain was only strengthening Adolf Hitler's hand by attending the parley.

This view was expressed in the government newspaper, Izvestia, in a Geneva dispatch which assumed added importance because of Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov's presence there.

The dispatch called the idea of the Munich conference "monstrous," and said France would pay a high price for her participation.

"Up to now British concessions to Hitler have been torn from the living flesh of Czechoslovakia," it said. "At this conference of four, France inevitably will pay for her friendship with England."

Not only is Chamberlain making his "third trip to Hitler," it continued, he is strengthening the Fuehrer's position by "adding another aggressor" in the circle of negotiators.

"One can easily imagine," it said, "what decisions will be out of such a conference." One can easily imagine the role of France in this partnership of four in which two aggressors will dictate their will while a third participant (Chamberlain) will seek in every way to satisfy the first two."

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—A search for the body of William G. Briggs, 60, is being made in Lake Malibu, near here. He drowned yesterday.

AGREEMENT AT MUNICH MEET NEAR, BELIEF

The spokesman disclosed that Vojtech Mastny, Czechoslovak minister to Berlin, and a Prague foreign office official named Masarik (not Jan Masarik, minister to London) had reached Munich from Prague late in the afternoon.

He said they would take back with them by airplane maps showing the exact plan of the Czechoslovak withdrawal and the German occupation.

Informed German sources referred to the projected march in as a "parade occupation" and said Hitler had agreed that the Eger and Asch regions, at Czechoslovakia's extreme western tip, would be taken over on Saturday and Sunday.

OTHER TROOPS TO ACT

Originally Hitler had demanded cession of the Sudetenland by Saturday.

He had intended, evidently, to march in with flags flying and if necessary with guns booming. But it was indicated that the new plan called for a quiet entry and for British, French and Italian troops also to march in to police plebiscites in doubtful areas.

The German government spokesman said the outlook was fundamentally optimistic.

SPEED REQUIRED

When asked whether Mastny and Masarik had been invited into the conference room of the big four he said he did not know but that he presumed they would be informed of the decisions, possibly by some committee.

The main thing, he said, was that Prague must know as soon as possible just what must be evacuated so that the military authorities concerned could make immediate preparations for withdrawal so that no blood would be spilled on either side.

BRITISH OBJECT

The new Czech concessions included an offer to evacuate, by Oct. 31, territory inhabited by populations more than 50 per cent Germanic, provided the frontiers of the new Czechoslovakia state have been plainly defined by that time.

This new offer was not asked for by London and Paris in the Anglo-French plan and did not, entirely meet Britain's wishes, it was understood.

Prime Minister Chamberlain, in proposals for execution of the plan submitted to Prague and taken to Munich, was understood to have urged immediate withdrawal of police forces from the affected area and complete evacuation within a very short period—possibly one week.

VETERANS TO AID

Other Czechoslovak concessions included an offer to evacuate, by Oct. 31, territory inhabited by populations more than 50 per cent Germanic, provided the frontiers of the new Czechoslovakia state have been plainly defined by that time.

Agreement to supervision of the evacuation by an international commission together with the British legion of war veterans.

(Reichsfuehrer Hitler already has agreed to permit the British legion to do this.)

Agreement to "negotiations regarding demobilization of troops" from Sudeten German areas.

BRITON CHEERED

The Bavarian street crowds roared acclaim for each group as automobiles bearing delegates back to the Fuehrerhaus whizzed through the streets. The loudest applause was that for Britain's prime minister, chief mover in the effort to avert war.

Four times the crowd roared as one by one, Daladier, Chamberlain, Hitler and finally Mussolini and the Fuehrer's troops, the loudest applause was that for Britain's prime minister, chief mover in the effort to avert war.

The cheers for Chamberlain rolled along, block after block. Spectators knew well ahead that he was coming, for they could hear shouts of "Chamberlain!" as his car approached.

WOMAN FACES SANITY TEST

William H. Powell, 38, Santa Ana meat cutter accused of passing a $750 bond check here, today awaited arraignment in superior court as his alleged accomplice, Mrs. Margery Madson, was taken to the county hospital for a mental examination.

Powell waived preliminary hearing before Justice Kenneth Morrison yesterday afternoon and will be arraigned in superior court Friday.

After the arrest of Mrs. Madson, 32-year-old Anaheim housemaid, and before a complaint had been issued from the district attorney's office, relatives appeared there to sign an affidavit of insanity. Status of the criminal charges against her now awaits the outcome of a sanity test.

Fullerton Seeks Improved Lights

FULLERTON.—Application to PWA for a $25,000 improvement in this city's street lighting system was approved last night by the city council.

L. A. Man Arrested On Drunk Charge

Jose Argullo, 37, Los Angeles tractor driver, was jailed last night by Deputy Sheriff Harvey Guzik and Frank Cagle, who charged him with drunk driving after they assertedly saw his car weaving from side to side on 101 highway near Red Hill avenue, Tustin.

not, that impatient foursome either couldn't or wouldn't wait.

The fact still remains that the price of oranges is still too low to maintain the overhead. It is a fundamental conclusion that if this situation continues the maintenance cannot be continued. If it isn't continued the grove goes to 'I and the owner with it. Any undiscovered facts which will correct this situation will be welcomed by not only growers but business which depend on growers. It is a related industry.

As long as the European powers are holding conference there still remains some hope of peace. When the conferences end the shooting may start any moment.

In the Pacific Telephone Magazine for August there is a little story in rhyme about the adventures of ten little motorists, which carried to its ultimate conclusion became an obsolescence. The first one started out to pass all the rest of the cars. Nine left. Another passed a traffic stop and reduced the list to eight. The next one was a deft driver. Now there are seven. The seventh failed to dim his lights. Now we have a half dozen. The sixth was an aggressive cruiser. He wanted to use the railroad same time a train did. He did. Another skidded on a curve. The corner called for him. Fourth a lady who wanted to discuss a party with a friend in the back seat. This list is now reduced to three. Another went to sleep and never woke up. Passing on top of a hill where the visibility is nil. One left. The last one lit a match to see how much oil he had, and he had too much. Ever have any experiences like those?

My friends who are interested in the oil promotion at Costa Mesa are optimistic. They make occasional trips to see the operations. I want the well to come in. If it does it will cost Sam Jernigan two lemons and an extra seven-up.

By the way, my Costa Mesa friend who reported blackbirds in that neighborhood, still insists they were there. The other friend who insists they were mosquitoes refuses to surrender. The case will have to go to the committee on ornithology.

And then there was the fellow who said the best thing about Los Angeles was getting out of it.

Encountered a friend few days ago whose generosity was at the

JUDGE GRIFFIN ON S. A. BENCH

Judge Lloyd Griffin of San Diego, who only today received his appointment as justice of the fourth district court, today made what may be his last appearance as a superior judge when he sat in superior court here.

Judge Griffin substituted for Judge G. K. Scovel in department three of the local court to hear a county welfare department reimbursement suit. Judge Scovel was in San Diego hearing a motion for new trial.

The San Diego jurist was appointed by Gov. Frank Merriam to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge D. Jennings and to go on the appellate bench. He will serve there with Justice E. J. Marks of Santa Ana and Presiding Justice Charles R. Barnard of Fresno.

Youth Found Near Psychopathic Ward

Facing a charge of "borrowing" automobile and taken to the county hospital for a sanity test, William J. Webb, 19, 511 East Bishop, escaped from the psychopathic ward last night but was captured because he merely went outside and sat in a car.

Webb as reported missing at 7:55 p. m. Santa Ana police reported a short time later he had been found sitting in a parked car near the hospital. ## N. Y. Mayor Ends Truckers' Strike

NEW YORK. (AP)—A full supply of provisions for New York City's residents started moving today as Mayor La Guardia's terms for settlement of a four-day drivers' strike.

While 15,000 union truckmen ended their walkout, over-the-road truckers deferred a final decision on the mayor's compromise, keeping their estimated 7500 long distance trucks idle.

JACKSON SUIT UP TOMORROW

First round in the board of supervisors $100,000 suit against Sheriff Logan Jackson for alleged fees and profits in office is scheduled to be fought tomorrow morning in superior court.

There Jackson, his attorney, Frank Guthrie, and Edgar E. Harvey of San Diego, the board's special attorney, will gather for a deposition hearing preliminary to Monday's trial.

Depositions usually are not taken before a judge, but Harvey said this one was scheduled to be done in that manner so he and Judge Drumm might secure rulings from the court on possible objections to testimony. Superior Judge Louis C. Drapeau of Ventura is scheduled to preside at the hearing and at the trial opening Monday.

YOUTH GUILTY IN GIRL CASE

Elliott Benjamin, 24-year-old Santa Ana solicitor for a Los Angeles newspaper, today faced a penitentiary sentence for a sex crime against a 13-year-old girl.

A jury of eight men and four women in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court found Benjamin guilty of two counts, one a felony and the other a misdemeanor, last night at 8 p. m. The jury had retired to deliberate the 26-foot case.

The girl testified Benjamin committed the offense against her after entering a home last Aug. 20. Deputy Dist. Atty. Warren Schutz prosecuted, with Simon L. Rose of Los Angeles defending. Judge Ames is scheduled to pronounce sentence Monday at 9:30 a. m.

Sugar Beet Hurlled Through Window

Sugar beets being in refineries, complained Clay Williams of Stanton to the sheriff's office yesterday—and not in his living room, which used to be the Stanton city hall.

Williams complained that someone threw a sugar beet through the plate-glass window last night, shattering the glass but missing the occupant. He said he suspected a man with whom he had had an argument over noise in a neighboring beer establishment.

Santa Anans Escape Europe's Troubled Area, But They May Be Sleeping on Cots

Two Santa Anans may have escaped from Europe's war crisis zone yesterday when the Queen Mary sailed—but they may be sleeping on cots in the ship's swimming pool!

Most recent news from Mr. and Mrs. Braden Finch of Santa Ana, who have been on a round-the-world cruise since early in June, revealed that they hoped to sail yesterday from England on the Queen Mary, and would arrive here about the middle of October.

The Associated Press reported yesterday that the giant liner sailed, but that her passenger capacity was stretched so far that many voyagers had to sleep on cots in the ship's public rooms. The Finches' schedule was not definite, according to a letter received here from Switzerland dated Sept. 12, which said they were going direct to Paris, and from there to London.

LADIES, ATTENTION...

THERE will be a cooking demonstration at WEISSEMAN'S at 5th and Main streets starting October 3rd and lasting a whole week. Miss Raymond, a domestic science graduate, will be the hostess, and you are all invited to come.

Miss Raymond will demonstrate the CLUB ALUMINUM WARE, this is the same ware that has been sold directly to the homes for considerably more money, but WEISSEMAN'S are pleased to say that you will be able to procure this desirable ware at a price all will like to pay. They are waterless cooking utensils, thus eliminating excessive shrinkage of vegetables and a big saver on the gas bill. So, don't forget... the 3rd of October... you don't want to miss it.

Tux and Gown Chatter

The hair styles and dress styles of the horse and buggy days are now being copied by the ladies of 1938. Even the hoop under a full skirted evening gown is the outstanding style in evening wear. Low necked and narrow waisted, and even a suspicion of a bustle in some. Yes... indeed we are going back for our styles... but oh! ladies... how they flatter.

I hear that bleaching cream for the skin is being bought by the carload so as to bleach skins to a pink and white complexion. The modern young lady wants to radiate the richness of her jewels, the dull warm color of her gowns.

Yes... the flappers with their scarlet mouths, their slinky gowns are passe, but in their place are the replicas of the Mid-Victorian fashion plates... glowing in all the radiance of those of yesteryear, but with more worldly looks on their faces.

Until next week... BARBARA.

GIVE THANKS TO RANKIN'S

FOR THE attractive little oddities that we strive so to find in case of birthdays, weddings, or any gift giving occasion. I found this week at RANKIN'S, at 4th and Sycamore streets, some very attractive cigarette tray sets, with six trays and a lovely china container in a lace pattern. Some are hand painted in 18th century French design, English hunt scenes, and lovely Dresden patterns. The price range is from $1.25 to $4.95. These desirable little sets are excellent for apartments, and make especially nice gifts. Give RANKIN'S a visit the next time you come to town. You will always find their courteous salesladies willing to help you find just what you want.

I FOUND AT HART'S...

AT 306 North Sycamore street, today, the finest array of woolen yardage I have ever seen. Lovely, heavy and rich looking black flecked all wool 56-inch yardage, for only $1.69 per yard. Also 56-inch wool tweeds in du-bane and gray, at $2.50 a yard. All wool plaids in teal, green, brown, and lovely color combinations at $1.95 a yard. Their rayon and wool finish plaids, 56-inch, are only $1.43 per yard. A novelty material that caught my eye was the "Ridder Crepe" in the popular laurel green, black, navy and teal. A regular $1.95 seller, you will find at HART'S for $1.25. So don't forget HART'S for quality materials when you get ready to do that fall sewing.

BRIGHTEN UP YOUR HOME...

WITH a few odds and ends which could include a lovely vase or two. At the CALIFORNIA PATIO POTTERY STORE, at 414 West 4th street, I found a lovely display of vases varying from 3 inches to 24 inches in height. Some of the smaller vases sell for as low as 35c and 40c. They also have flower holders, a tricky gadget that makes your flowers set so much better in your bowl. With such quality ware as theirs, come in on your next trip to town and they will be glad to show you around.

HAVE YOU VISITED...

I Just Found Out About Orange County

By BOB SWANSON

Sandblasters

Desert sandstorms are gentle breezes compared with "manufactured sandstorms" at the Orange County Sandblasting company on Fruit street.

Sand-shot at terrific force through a rubber hose—is used to clean paint and rust from automobiles, remove finish from furniture, take off rust from marine and aeroplane engines, clean iron from the foundry, or carve the lettering in tombstones.

Compressed air forces from 750 to 800 pounds of sand through the hose every hour. About 200 feet of air rushes through the hose every minute, carrying the sand with it. Within four hours, a sandblaster can remove every vestige of paint and rust from an automobile.

Sand comes out of the hose like a shot from a gun—and the effect is much the same if someone gets in front of it. Example: a sandblaster can drill a hole in a piece of tile with the torrent of cutting sand.

Equipment consists of an air compressor and a sand blast generator into which the sand is poured. Much of the work is done outside the plant with a portable outfit.

A sandblaster does lots of unique jobs, such as making signs with sand or making stencils on bottles. He's even been called upon to blast scaly bark from orange trees.

Leonard Warner, one of the sandblasters, has made wooden signs by masking off the letter or design and sandblasting around it. Biggest sign was six feet long, and was a rustic one for an antique shop.

Designs can be sandblasted on glass bottles, too. By using a fine sand, the glass is "frosted" or roughened, except where tape was placed to form the letter or design. A night school class last year had a number of bottles so designed.

Majority of work at the Orange County Sandblasting company is with automobiles. Paint shops and auto dealers bring in cars to be cleaned before painting. Sandblasting is the only method, besides use of certain chemicals, of removing rust from automobiles, Warner says.

Other big item is furniture brought in mostly by repair shops.

Tar is the worst of all materials to sandblast. Because tar is soft and sticky, the hose doesn't cut but piles up in the tar. Anything covered with household paint is hard to sandblast.

Best for sandblasting, Warner says, is any material which is brittle.

Sandblasting really began, Warner says, in cutting letters on tombstones. A flexible rubber solution is painted on the stone, leaving open the spaces for the letters. The sandblast won't cut through the rubber. Although he doesn't do much of it, Warner has blasted a number of tombstones himself.

Greatest hazard in sandblasting is the dust which gets in the lungs and causes silicosis. Workmen wear a respirator with a double filter, but the fine silica dust seeps through regardless. Silica dust is so fine, Warner says, that it takes 16 hours to settle four feet in a still room.

After fastening the mask, the workman puts on a large canvas hood which reaches down over his shoulders. There's a glass plate in front to see through. When it becomes frosted, another plate is slipped in its place.

A sandblaster on the job looks like a man from Mars. Besides the helmet, he usually wears an overcoat as protection from the bouncing particles of sand. With the nozzle of the hose usually about a foot from the object being blasted, there's plenty of bounce.

About four grades of sand are used, ranging from the fine salt-like sand to coarse sand the size of B-B shot. Sand is used twice, then thrown away because it breaks up.

Warner says the company uses about 10 to 15 tons of sand every month. Most of it comes from Orange county beaches, while some is brought from sand pits at Oceanside, Nevada and Twenty-Nine Palms.

Warner says he's been burned on the hand by a stream of sand, but was never hurt. A blast—many times worse than a desert sandstorm—can bury grains of sand deep in the flesh.

This danger is minor, chief hazard being silicosis, Warner points out. Even this can be eliminated, he says, by a new dust proof sand-blasting machine now on the market.

H. B. Plans Court Action To Prevent Drilling On Tidelands

STATE'S RIGHT TO LEASE AREA IS DISPUTED

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Court action to restrain a state lessee from drilling into Huntington Beach's tidelands still was being discussed by city officials today, with a possibility a course of action may be decided on by next Monday.

Mayor M. M. McCallen of the beach city said today he would confer with officials of the Southwest Exploration company, given permission by the state lands commission to drill into tidelands the city claims it owns, and then talk with city councilmen before their Monday night meeting.

The city has threatened injunction proceedings on grounds tidelands within the city limits are city-owned, and therefore the state has no right to lease for drilling. McCallen expects to leave for a three-week trip to Tennessee and Louisiana Saturday or Sunday, but said details of the city's course of action would be arranged before his departure.

Officials of the state land department estimated the state would collect nearly $2,000,000 in royalties under the 20-year agreement with Southwest.

Will Help You With Your Clothes Problem. Write Her!

You'll be wearing one at once, of course, even though you have no notion of where the idea came from. That's a chateleine this fall! Only just for fun's sake I thought I would remind you that it once was medieval. But if you will look in your French dictionary you will find two words—"chateleine" which means lord of the manor and "chateleine" which means mistress of the manor. He or she who was in charge held all the great keys in their keeping—and these they usually hung on a dangling group at their waist. As years went on these keys became the symbol of the mistress of the manor, and the name was transferred to the bunch of keys. But women have other trinkets—such as vials for perfume or a heart-shaped pocket watch with their lover's hair in it. And it was so convenient to hitch these also to the precious bunch of keys, at their waist which they forever kept with them.

You wear yours over your heart this fall, however. And the danglers on our hundred percent modern chateleines sometimes lose all connections with their origin. I just saw some excitingly new ones made of old coins strung together. Others are colored beads. Some are humorous shoes and cocktail shakers in the manner of the charm bracelet. As long as they clank and dangle and clust—let's ring on pin we call them chateleines now. And as for smartness—nothing is newer. Only, you wear them over your heart.

Oh, you can pin them to your throat like a clip, too, if you prefer. And you might pin them at your waist, if it amuses you. Fashion loves an individualist this season, so develop your own quirks.

TRACT TO BE SUBDIVIDED

COSTA MESA.—Charles W. Moore of Fullerton has recently purchased 10 acres on the corner of Harbor boulevard and Wilson street from T. C. Oxley of Pasadena. According to reports the tract is to be subdivided by F. E. Russell, local realtor, into half-acre and acre tracts.

The south two acres of the tract has already been purchased by C. E. Stovall, owner of Stovall's dairy and will be utilized to care for the steadily expanding business of the dairy.

During the past two years, Moore has purchased and subdivided four tracts in Costa Mesa, all having been handled through the F. E. Russell office.

CHAPTER XXXV

IT WAS well past midnight when Julie and Kenneth drew up before the Hamilton home.

Julie sat up with a little yawn. Her face was strained and pallid.

She said listlessly, "So... we're home."

Kenneth put his arm about her. "Yes—home," He paused, then said, "Don't forget, Julie—I'll be standing by—any time you need me. Don't let this business get you down."

She smiled ruefully, and sighed again. "Thanks, Ken. And thanks for what you did for me tonight—getting me out of jail and all. I shan't forget it. You're—you're a pretty swell guy."

She impulsively leaned over and kissed him, then slipped out of the car and started up the walk toward the house.

He sat looking after her—noted that her shoulders were erect and her head held high. He sighed. Life took some cruel quirks sometimes. Julie let herself in with her latchkey. She walked silently through the hall and mounted the stairs as quietly as possible.

Before leaving Atlanta, she had phoned her father that she was on her way home with Kenneth but had doubted whether he had waited up for her. Reaching the second floor, she saw through his open door that his room was dark. Yes, he was evidently in bed and asleep.

HOWEVER, as she was about to tiptoe by, his voice suddenly halted her.

"Is that you, Julie?"

"Yes, Dad."

He entered his room, switched on the light and went over to kiss him.

"Did you have a nice visit in the city?" he asked.

"Very nice, Dad," she lied.

"You didn't stay very long." He looked at her questioningly. "Sure you enjoyed yourself? I thought you'd be away at least a week. That's what you told me. Nothing happened, did it, to make you shorten your stay?" His voice was inquisitive.

"Oh I just decided that a little bit of city life went a long way. That's all," she said lightly. She hesitated, then went on swiftly. "But it did me a lot of good—got me out of the dumps. That's all over. I'm turning over a new leaf. You'll see."

"I'm glad, daughter." Her father pressed her hand. "I was worried about you."

"I know. I've been an awful stick lately. But don't you worry about

Hartnett's Homer Wins Ninth Straight For Cubs

PIRATES OUT TO REGAIN LEAD TODAY

CHICAGO. (P)—Pittsburgh's Pirates went into the third and last act of a baseball drama at Wrigley field with the Chicago Cubs today, grimly aware it was their best chance of regaining the lead in the National league pennant race.

Knocked half a game out of first place by Manager Gabby Hartnett's epic home run in yesterday's dusk, the Pirates virtually have to get up off the floor to win the pennant. And the Cubs have to depend upon a shattered pitching staff to stop that last stand drive.

Upon the winning depended the rise or fall of each club's pennant star, for should the Cubs win they would shorten the mathematical odds which have been against them since they began their great stretch run. But if the Pirates win, they need only take three of their four remaining games from Cincinnati's Reds to clinch the pennant, even though the Cubs take all three of their scheduled games with St. Louis.

The Cubs' 6 to 5 triumph yesterday was their ninth straight and their 19th in the last 22 games. Thus they recaptured the front rank position they have not occupied since early June and knocked the Pirates out of the lead for the first time since July 12.

But the victory put a further strain on the Cubs' undermanned pitching staff. Six men worked for Chicago, six of a tired, overworked crew.

Today Russ Bauers, rested and ready, carried Pittsburgh's hopes to the mound. Against him the Cubs pitted Bill Lee, their ace hurler, but a weary one. Lee pitched nine innings against the Cardinals Monday, relieved Dizzy Dean Tuesday and worked an inning yesterday.

Seldom, even in a world series, was there as dramatic a moment yesterday as that in the ninth inning. Ford Frick, president of the National league, had instructed the umpires to call the game because of darkness if the score remained tied at the end of the inning. Two out. Two strikes to a batter swinging his club in the swiftly gathering dusk.

Then hysteria. Gabby Hartnett had hit a home run and won the game. He fought through the charging crowd to touch the bases.

BUDGE GAINS IN L. A. PLAY

LOS ANGELES. (P)—The Pacific Southwest tennis tournament puttered into the third round of play today, with J. Donald Budge holding sway in the center court in the star singles match.

The California match, having ousted off youthful Bobby Carruthers of San Diego yesterday, 6-4, 6-3, was due to meet Leonard Schwartz of Australia, who disposed of E. J. Filby of England in their second round match, 8-6, 4-6, 9-7.

Adrian Quist of Australia, having defeated Ted Owens of Los Angeles, 6-3, 8-6, was slated to meet Tom Chambers of Los Angeles, while Quist's teammate, Harry Hopman, was due for a rest until Gene Mako reaches the tournament and begins his matches.

Interest in the women's singles lagged with the absence of America's queen, Alice Marble, but several of the leading entries, including Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabry of Boston, and Margot Lumb of England, were still in the running.

EUGENE. (P)—Tex Oliver, new University of Oregon football coach who leads from the dry lands of Arizona, got his first taste of Oregon rain during a practice session last night and liked it.

BOSTON RED SOX LEAD IN HITTING

By DREW MIDDLETON

Associated Press Sports Writer

Just off hand, Mr. Bones, who do you figure is the most dangerous club in the baseball business at the plate? Correct. The Boston Red Sox.

There are two big noises in the ivory industry these chilly afternoons. One comes from Chicago where the Cubs are hanging it on the Pirates—they did it 6-5 on Gabby Hartnett's ninth inning homer yesterday and took the league lead—and the other emanates from whichever ball park is entertaining the Red Sox or vice versa.

The Red Sox won another yesterday, 2-1, over the Athletics, which is a mild score for them these days. Mild in view of the fact the Sox are leading the American league in batting with .299 and boast six hitters above the .300 mark.

They have won 17 out of their last 27 and Joe Cronin, the manager who is nudging the ball at .345 clip himself, is pretty sure they and not the Yankees will be the team to beat in the American league race next year.

"Pitching," mourned Mr. Cronin, "that's it. If we had some pitching this year we'd be up there. Now we're getting a little, but not enough. But we can hit."

This last is a fine bit of understatement. Jimmy the Double "X" Foxx is back there banging the ball at a .348 clip. Ben Chapman hovers around .335, Cronin and Vasmik first with .325, Pinky Higgins is around .307 and Doc Cramer around .300.

Foxx leads in runs batted in with 167 and is second in homers with 48 and in runs scored with 134.

"Don't think he won't be able to do it again next year," counsels Cronin. "If I can find some pitching next spring we'll give those Yankees quite a rub."

SEALS CAPTURE OPENER, 4 TO 1

SACRAMENTO. (P)—Sacramento's Senators were one up on the San Francisco Seals in the Pacific Coast league Shaughnessy play-off finals today because Pitcher Tony Freitas apparently still has the Indian sign on the Seals.

The Sacramento pitching star limited the Seals to six hits and beat them 4 to 1 in the first clash of a scheduled seven-game series last night. It was his fifth win over the Seals in six starts against them this year.

Larry Barton cinched the game for Freitas and the Solons when he punched one of Bill Shores' offerings out of the park to score Teammate Max Marshall ahead of him in the last of the eighth.

The teams play the second game tonight. First prize of $5000 and a $500 trophy goes to the series winner and $2500 to the runnerup.

WRESTLING

TRENTON, N. J.—Sandor Szabo, 216, Hungary, defeated Abe Kashey, 212, Syria, two of three falls.

ST. LOUIS.—Ali Baba, 207, Kurdistan, pinned Eddie Dusek, 228, Omaha, Neb., 20:00.

MAGILL WILL FACE RABURN ON S. A. MAT

With four of the best wrestlers on the Pacific coast signed for the matches, Promoter "Bud" Levin is presenting another standout card tonight at the Orange County Athletic club. The show opens at 8:30 o'clock.

The card is headed by a double main event featuring a rematch between Billy Raburn, Atlanta, Ga., and Cecil Magill of Long Beach. Raburn and Magill were rematched following their sensational match of two weeks ago which was won by Raburn.

In the second half of the double main event, Floyd Britt, brother of Alvin Britt, former junior heavyweight champion, meets Bobby Chick, brother of DuDee Chick, who recently lost the same title. Both matches in the double main event are for three falls each and will go to a finish.

Jimmy Lott, Alabama wrestler who has been in the East for several months, has returned to California and will grapple with Mr. X, the "bad boy" from New York, in the 30-minute feature preliminary. In the opening match, Don Juan Sebastian, Mexican singing wrestler, battles Mike Strelch of California.

Seabiscuit's Earnings Now At $323,980

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md. (P)—Charles S. Howard's handicap champion, Seabiscuit, victor in the Havre de Grace handicap by virtue of one of the greatest performances of his brilliant turf career, closed in another notch today on his all-time money-winning record.

Seabiscuit survived a jolting bump by T. D. Taggart's Marica on the first turn of the vent yesterday and, under strong urging by Jockey George Wolf, went on to win the $10,000 added, mile and an eighth event by two lengths in the blazing time of 1:30.

The champion's time equalled the record for the stake. The victory was worth $8175 and boosted Seabiscuit's total earnings to $323,980, only $52,764 short of Sun Beau's $376,744.

Marathon Golfer Completes 600 Holes, Wins Bet

NEW YORK. (P)—J. Smith Ferebee, the enduring Chicago golfer, has $10,000, the mortgage on a house he values at $50,000 and a couple of sore feet today. Ferebee completed his transcontinental golf tour at the Salisbury golf club, Westbury, L. I., last night with the final 36 holes of the 72 he played there yesterday. He rammed his last putt home at 10:30 p. m., thus finishing well under the conditions of his bet which included 600 holes of golf with a maximum of 100 strokes per 18 holes on the tour. The time limit for the bet expired at midnight.

B-a-m! A Future All-American?

Hailed by sports writers from west to east as a future gridiron great, Dean McAdams, rangy half-back from Caldwell, Ida., is helping to carry the brunt of the University of Washington attack in his sophomore year. He packs dynamite in his kicking toe.

'Y' BASKETBALL MEETING SET BY MATZEN

Basketball managers will meet at the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 p. m. Monday, it was announced today by Quentin Matzen, committee chairman. Final plans will be completed for the opening of the playing schedule Oct. 17.

Some of the teams already have begun practice, and the players are displaying form that indicates a season of lively competition, Matzen said.

Most of last year's teams will enter again, and several new groups are seeking admittance to the 12-team league. Matzen urges managers of all teams to be present Monday night to iron out schedule problems.

COLTON ELEVEN PLAYS ORANGE

EUGENE HAMAKER'S LOSS SEVERE BLOW TO SAINTS

Long Beach Poly, the team that our Saints eliminated in the early rounds of the C. I. F. playoffs last fall, comes to the Municipal bowl tomorrow afternoon for sweet revenge.

Santa Ana undoubtedly will feel the loss of Eugene Hamaker, hard-running halfback, who is favoring a knee injury and may be kept out of the Saints' lineup until their Citrus Belt league opener with Pomona here Oct. 14. It might have been a different story if Hamaker, who was injured on the third play of the game, had been in the lineup the full route.

The Saints will be deeply interested in the outcome of the Huntington Beach game at Huntington Beach tomorrow. Huntington Beach comes here a week from tomorrow to play the Saints in their final practice brush before the C. B. L. season opens.

OREGON-U. C. L. A. GRID GAME 11TH OF SERIES

When G. A. (Tex) Oliver sends his University of Oregon 11 against U. C. L. A. in Eugene Saturday it will be the 11th meeting between the two rivals. Oregon has won six of the past 10 games, with the Bruins carrying off honors in the last three meetings. Classic of the entire series was that 12-7 victory U. C. L. A. scored back in 1932. Remember? Oregon led, 7-6, and the Bruins had the ball in the shadow of their own goal posts, with only a minute of play remaining. Mike Frankovitch faded back of his own goal line and heaved a long pass. A halfback named Ransom Livesay eluded the Oregon secondary, snagged the ball and raced to the winning touchdown in the wake of the gun.

The Bruins will present another aerial threat Saturday with Kenny Washington, negro sensation, in their lineup. He's one of the greatest passers in football annals.

GUTHRIE MEETING OLD FRIENDS AT STANFORD
Frank Guthrie, who served this department as sports assistant for more than a year, has enrolled at Stanford university, where he is renewing friendships with athletes he knew in the Eastern J. C. conference. He will go out for track next spring and attempt to improve as a high hurdler. Guthrie writes that John Casey, Pomona Jaycee's great back, who was one of the Dons' most feared rivals, is being groomed for left half and as a passer on the Stanford varsity. He's playing second-string as understudy to Hampton Pool, ex-California gridder. Pete Fay, Bill Paulman and Norman Standee complete the backfield.

Paul Moore, who ran the half-mile in 1 min. 54 secs. for Fullerton J. C., has enrolled at the "farm" and Clyde Jeffrey, Riverside Jaycee's sensational sprinter who holds the national junior A. U. title, also has arrived at the Palo Alto campus. Charley Paddock, onetime "world's fastest human," believes Jeffrey has all the qualifications to become one of the greatest collegiate sprinters of all time.

HAMAKER OUT OF TUSSLE TOMORROW

Santa Ana High school's Saints make their 1938 debut before the home fans tomorrow at 3 p. m. when they clash with Long Beach Poly's eleven in the Municipal bowl.

On the basis of the one game played by both teams the invading Jackrabbits should be given the edge. According to reports, Long Beach showed up with a powerful offensive drive—particularly in the pinches—to win from Redondo High, 6-0. At the same time the Saints were losing a 7-0 decision to Long Beach Woodrow Wilson.

Coach Bill Foote has changed his probable starting lineup. He admits that he doesn't know who will get the nod until game-time tomorrow afternoon.

With Capt. Gene Hamaker definitely out with injuries, Coach Foote has shifted End Barney Robinson to right half, and his other end, Ralph Barnes to the left half spot. With this arrangement, Bill Was will probably start at left end and Bob Pollard at the other wing.

The rest of the team will remain essentially the same, with little George Higashi at quarter and Bobbie Musick at fullback. The rest of the line will be composed of Bob Webb and "Chuck" Pride at tackles; Don Dunning and Ray Mercado, guards; and either Bill Waddell or Clifford Whitford at center.

Coach Foote indicated that the change in positions is being done as a safeguard when replacements are needed. With a "charley horse" hampering the work of Halfback Wayne Piper, Capt. Hamaker out, and the general shifting around of the backfield, the Saints will not be at full strength.

Coach "Red" Montgomery's Long Beach first string will line up with Capt. Russell Nowling and Jack Caughey at ends; Ed Pannell and Charles DeCoudres, tackles; Lewis Jacobsen and Lee Barton, guards; and Wilbur Necheche, center. The backfield will be composed of Gene Pickett in the quarterback spot, Tony Crish and Gerald Klosterman, halfbacks; and Pat Jones at fullback.

WILSON BACK WITH DONS

Bill Wilson, reserve quarterback who suffered a broken wrist in an early scrimmage with the U. S. C. West Virginians, has been equipped with a brace, and will be able to rejoin Santa Ana's Dons for their non-conference game with Los Angeles City college here tomorrow night.

Wilson's return will come at an opportune time inasmuch as Coach Bill Cook plans to employ Lynn Arnett, bullet-like passer, only part-time.

Whether Virgil Stevens, towering tackle, will be able to start is still doubtful because of a knee injury, Cook said. Officials for tomorrow night's game will be Jim Tunney, referee; Ed Leahy, umpire; Dick Glover, head linesman; and Stewart White, field judge.

By SID FEDER (Pinch-Hitting for Brietz)

NEW YORK. (P)—Pittsburgh pro football Pirates are plenty peeved about the rumors that some of the boys were sore at all the publicity for Whizzer White. They even took a vote on it—and now want it broadcast that the Whiz has "100 per cent co-operation" of every man on the squad. Here's three whoops and a holler for old Gabby Hartnett—who can still forget he's a manager long enough to win a ball game for those Cubs. Detroit Tigers are figuring on a pennant in 1940, with Schoolboy Rowe coming back and a flock of good looking rookies on the way up. But they're about convinced it can't be done for '39. This corner's vote for the year's best loser goes to George Murphy, who footed the bills on that 108-hole golf affair last week. He dropped 20 G's—without a single moan.

Swingin' Sammy Snead looked over the field in the National Amateur just before it started at Oakmont, picked Willie Turnesa and Johnny Fischer as the class of the tournament, then announced: "Those other guys play like they had nails in their shoes." That Minnesota backfield only averages 190 pounds. So what has Bernie Bierman got to sing the blues about. Looks like the Cardinals picked a winner in Chauncey Scott. They signed him from the semi-pros last year, and he only fanned 280 for Paducah in the Kitty league this summer. The grapevine says Harry Stuhldreher has a passing attack at Wisconsin that belongs in the Southwest conference.

Col. E. R. Bradley figures on coming back to the derby with a big bang with Benefactor. provided they can make this two-year-old travel the route like Ze's been stepping the dashes lately. Colgate campus these days looks like the makings for anybody's ball club. What with Dick and George Sisler, jr., Frankie Frisch's nephew Johnny Lucy, Smokey Joe Wood, boy Steve, and Dave Back, son of the old Giant's pitcher, Howard, all together up there. Dana Bible is keeping mighty quiet about that freshman squad down at Texas U.

Tricky Football Due In Loyola-Pacific Clash

LOS ANGELES. (P)—Tricky football meets tricky football here tomorrow night when Ams Alonzo Stagg's College of Pacific and Loyola's local Lions tie up at Gilmer stadium.

Loyola used 33 forward and lateral passes in whipping Cal-Tech last week, and Pacific is noted as a team coached in befuddling offensive movements, employing the back as a "flea flicker." Whatever that is, Loyola will find out.

HOOVER OPENS UP ON F. D. R. BEFORE 10,000

KANSAS CITY, (AP)—The hand of Herbert Hoover was extended today to his Democratic successor, President Roosevelt, for efforts to promote world peace in a time of crisis but, in the former president's own words, his gloves "are off" for a fight against "political immorality" in conducting the nation's business.

He launched that fight last night before an audience of 10,000 persons at a Republican rally here and announced he would enlarge upon his views in two other addresses—at Hartford, Conn., Oct. 17 and at Spokane, Wash., Nov. 5—bearing in mind "we are now six weeks faced with a national election of the highest importance."

"The efforts of our government to maintain peace deserve our full support," Hoover said in prefacing his attack on the administration.

He interpolated into his text: "The President will find every Republican and every thinking person behind him in that effort."

From congratulation, he turned to fire a one-hour salvo of charges. That the Roosevelt administration has gorged political offices with 300,000 occupants without civil service examination; that WPA and other relief work has been infested by vote-getting policies; that finances have been juggled so deceptively as to turn such Democrats as Senator Carter Glass of Virginia against the party in power; and that a propaganda machine is now at work which costs at least $20,000,000 a year to operate.

"Every dictator in Europe has proved that by propaganda you can fool enough of the people all the time," he said.

Cheers punctuated his reading of six suggestions he described as "constructive alternatives" to policies now in force: "Be honest." "Re-establish morals as the first objective of government." Return the administration of relief to non-partisan local committees even if the federal government pays 95 per cent of their expenditure.

"Demand the whole patronage system be abolished." Amend the corrupt practice act to provide instant dismissal and jail for any of these job holders who speaks out loud on politics and takes the enforcement out of partisan hands." Repudiate the whole idea that the end or the 'objective' justifies the means."

He accused President Roosevelt of pretending to form a new liberal party on principles "hoary with reaction" and of blindly stamping all opposition as conservative.

"It being conservative on dragging America into the mire of political immorality or into the Dead Sea of reaction is conservative," Hoover said, "Then I cheerfully join that party. And that party will yet become the hope of American life."

N. E. West Linked To Campaign Circular SECOND JUNIOR COLLEGE VOTE ASKED

EXTENSION OF DEADLINE BY PWA SOUGHT

With President George Wells of the Santa Ana board of education in San Francisco seeking an extension of the federal government's Oct. 1 deadline on PWA applications, an intensive campaign to call another junior college bond election were under way today.

It was reported Wells was to confer with K. A. Godwin, regional administrator of the Public Works Administration, in a last minute attempt to secure a 30-day extension on the federal deadline.

PATRONS OPEN DRIVE
Such an extension would permit calling of another bond election for the proposed new junior college.

A spirited campaign to call a second bond election, if the extension can be secured, was started yesterday afternoon by the Junior College Patrons association which began circulating petitions throughout the business district. The petitions ask the Santa Ana board of education to "consider the feasibility of holding another election for the junior college bonds at the earliest possible date."

HUNDREDS SIGN
With three members of the patrons association circulating the petitions, several hundred signatures had already been obtained this morning.

The petitions will be presented to the board of education at its meeting tomorrow night. Unanimously approving the motion to start the campaign, members of the association—meeting at the junior college—drafted a recommendation that the board of education officially announce that the proposed new junior college would be built within the city limits of Santa Ana.

VICTORY FORECAST
Members expressed belief that because of the close vote at the first election that the bonds would carry easily at a second election, if the federal extension could be obtained.

The vote in the first election showed clearly that the community is in favor of providing a new college to replace the present ramshackle buildings, they declared.

Asthma Inhaler Or Marijuana Cigaret? Analyst May Determine Cline's Guilt

A toxicologist's analysis of "asthma inhalers"—special cigarettes smoked by asthma victims—today was to decide the fate of Arthur B. Cline, 56, Corona del Mar, facing felony charges of possession of marijuana.

Cline, at preliminary hearing before Justice Kenneth Morrison which took most of yesterday afternoon, testified the only cigarettes he ever had in his possession were the asthma inhalers he purchased at a Santa Ana drug store. He contradicted testimony of two witnesses against him, denying that he ever gave one of them a cigarette of any kind, and denying he ever had marijuana in his possession. Justice Morrison reserved decision on Cline's case—whether or not the suspect should be held to answer to superior court for trial—while Dr. Elizabeth Tock, expert on analysis of drugs, examines the asthma cigarettes to see whether they would react similarly to marijuana.

Dr. Tock testified that a cigarette Cline assertedly gave a Costa Mesa girl Aug. 25 definitely contained the narcotic drug, and said one end of the cigarette "looked like a home-made job," as though an ordinary cigarette had been opened and the drug inserted in place of the medicated preparation used for asthma relief.

Cline faced his accuser, Mrs. C. W. Lipscombe of Costa Mesa, at yesterday's hearing. She testified she suspected him of using marijuana, and after contacting him several times in an attempt to get possession of a political circular, had her niece, Martha Lindman, ask him for a cigarette.

Mrs. Lipscombe and Miss Lindman both testified that Cline said, "No, what I smoke would make you sick; I use them for asthma." Their testimony, denied by the defendant, was that Cline finally gave the girl a long, thin cigarette which had a "peculiar odor."

Later Miss Lindman said she flung another of the cigarettes from a box in Cline's car. Neither the cigarettes, both said, smelled like the medicated ones Cline said he smoked for asthma and bought at the drug store.

Mrs. Lipscombe said she kept both cigarettes, but later turned one over to Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton for analysis. The other, she said, was partially smoked by two men who were curious about its possible marijuana content.

The defendant, taking the stand in his own behalf, said he had smoked the medicated asthma cigarettes for years, but said he had no idea whether or not they contained narcotics. "I buy them at the drug store," he observed.

State Sen. Harry Westover, appearing for Cline at the hearing, said in argument that "there is a political situation here—I don't know whether it has any bearing on the case or not..." (Mrs. Lipscombe had testified she was campaigning for Mayor Dan Mulherron of San Clemente for fifth district supervisor, while Cline is a campaigner for Supervisor N. E. West.)

Judge Morrison asked that Dr. Tock examine some of Cline's medicated cigarettes to determine their reactions, and will rule on the matter Tuesday morning.

REPERCUSSION OF CAMPAIGN IN COURTROOM

Supervisor N. E. West was linked today with a campaign circular which attacked the record of Dan Mulherron, mayor of San Clemente, in the primary election supervisory campaign.

The delayed repercussion of the campaign came yesterday afternoon in testimony as Arthur B. Cline, 56, Corona del Mar, active for West in the campaign, faced preliminary hearing before Justice Kenneth Morrison on a felony charge of possessing marijuana.

PRINTER BALKS
Copies of the circular, mimeographed after a printer had expressed doubt about producing it, were distributed in Costa Mesa and other parts of the fifth district.

The circular attacked Mulherron's record as county director of WPA, charging irregularities—denied immediately both by Mulherron and official WPA sources.

Testimony about the circular was brought out by Cline's attorney, State Senator Harry Westover, who insisted that witnesses be specific about their reasons for conversing. Westover examined witnesses at length, after Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton had questioned them only about the alleged offense.

LETTER REVEALED
Mrs. C. W. Lipscombe of Costa Mesa, who signed the complaint against Cline, testified she first met the suspect when she went to his home in an attempt to get a copy of the publication, then in the form of a letter signed by a San Clemente man opposed to Mulherron.

"He showed me the letter," she said. "We wanted to print it, so I tried to get the letter and he said it couldn't be printed; he said 'suppose we call Mr. West.'"

Cline said Mrs. Lipscombe and her niece, Martha Lindman, also a witness against him on the narcotics charge, came to his home and gave fictitious names, telling him they were supporting West for reelection.

CALLS MRS. WEST
"I showed them the letter," he said. "The printer made some comment about not printing it, so we went to the telephone office and Mrs. Lipscombe called Mrs. West to see about getting one."

"I had told her husband previously that I had intended to suppress Mr. Mulherron, but when I saw a letter indicating some $250,000 was misused and talked to the man who wrote it, I decided not to... I did assist Mr. Longbotham (name signed to the letter) where it was necessary to tell somebody something about the printing, and so on."

Cline denied distributing the circulars, saying he merely assisted in their production. Distribution of the letters shortly before the primary caused a furor in the fifth district, with Mulherron threatening legal action against their backers, if they should be found.

298 COMMERCE STUDENTS IN S. A. COLLEGE

With a general increase in registration figures noted at Santa Ana Junior college, the commerce department has also shown a decided upturn, according to George B. Holmes, head of the department.

Holmes revealed that a total of 298 students are now taking commerce courses. This, he said, is an increase of 114 over last year. To meet the increased demand, eight new typewriters and tables have been installed, as well as the addition of another comptometer.

There are 127 specializing in secretarial practice, while 66 are in general business. Other figures according to division of the department show that there are 47 specializing in merchandising 35 in accounting; 12, pre-professional; 10, graphic arts, and one, advertising.

Avocado Signup To End Tomorrow

Avocado growers' cooperative marketing signup ends tomorrow night, the Calavo Growers organization announced today, with 170 additional growers joining since Aug. 7.

The new season's crop to be marketed by the cooperative growers' organization is estimated at 16,000,000 pounds. A seasonal refund will be paid on the 565,000 flats of avocados packed during the season just ending, in addition to the pool payments already received by the growers and in addition to the revolving fund credit.

Student Directors Of J. C. Drama Dept. Named

Ernest Crozier Phillips, head of Santa Ana Junior college drama department, today named four students who will act as student directors for the current semester. They are Herschel Albrecht, Charles Sayers, Wayne Tarvin, and Russell Haney.

Increased interest in dramatics has been noted this semester with the announcement that 44 have registered, according to Phillips. Two sections were organized, and a third is not unlikely, it was said.

Semester activities include presentation of one-act plays for various schools and organizations. The department's biggest affair is the annual Fiesta three-act play.

Breakfast Club Told About Boxing

Frank Lockhart, match maker for the 101 Highway arena, instructor for the Walker gymnasium, and some boxer in his own right—explained the intricacies of training to the Breakfast club this morning, following the exhibition of bouts between pugilistic aspirants who have appeared in the local arenas. The program for next Thursday morning will be in charge of Spurgeon Sparks.

COLLEGE WILL PUT OWN BAND ON GRIDIRON

For the first time in its 23 years of existence, Santa Ana Junior college will "field" a band of its own. Under the direction of Alan A. Revell, music instructor, the band will make its debut tomorrow night at the Santa Ana-Los Angeles football game in the Municipal bowl.

Two sophomore students have been instrumental in organizing the unit. The students, Fred Beecher and Bob Baines, sent out a call last June to student musicians and were answered when 27 signed up for the organization.

College authorities made band a two-unit course under Revell and provides instruments for those who do not have them.

Several attempts have been made to organize a band, but failed. About two years ago, Reuben Krutz, jaycee student, started a band with a small group and played at all home games.

The present organization will replace the N.Y.A. WPA bands, which have played in previous years. Members include William Talevich, Lydia Elliott, Margaret Powell, George Hyde, Onie Sanders, Milton Asher, Leon Leubach, Wayne Tarvin, Morris Holing, Leroy Wells, Cal Fuller, Gil Brookings, Jim Geminhardt, Charles Sayers, Mary Warren, Charles Adkins, Milton Ash, Roy Corry, Lowell Dart, George Dawson, Gordon Garnett, Arthur Hooker, Dale Mackay, Willis Nichols, Cecil Cat-hout, Frank Ramirez and Delmar Taylor.

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—The dead-pan film comedian, Stan Laurel, was to appear in court here today on charges of drunkenness and drunk driving.

Junior College Freshmen Who Violate Traditions to Face Terrors of Kangaroo Court

Freshmen students at Santa Ana Junior college who have been leaving their "beanies" at home, lounging on "forbidden territory" and otherwise breaking jaycee traditions will have their day. This was the warning sounded today as the student executive board considers arrangements for the annual Kangaroo court.

The board will set a date for the court at its regular meeting tomorrow afternoon, according to President Bill Twist. At that time, plans will be formulated to punish offending frosh.

Kangaroo court in an annual event conducted by the Associated Students to mete out punishment to freshmen for disobeying college rules set by their upperclassmen.

Date will also be set at tomorrow meeting for their freshman class election. Newly elected officers will hold their positions for one year instead of a semester as formerly. Offices to be filled are president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer.

Son-in-Law Slain As He Beats Wife, Says Her Father

BAKERSFIELD, (AP)—His daughter was being beaten by his son-in-law... He ordered him to stop... This was the confession, Deputy Sheriff Achton Jensen said today, that Bert E. Keithley made when he surrendered after the slaying of 33-year-old John Wesley Ringer last night.

Keithley was held on suspicion of murder.

Besides his widow, Ringer is survived by two children, Raymond, 10, and Austin, 8.

WAR LEADER STRICKEN

PASADENA, (AP)—Major General Charles S. Farnsworth, World War division commander, was winning a critical fight against pneumonia today, St. Luke's hospital reported.

BLIND VOYAGE by MILDRED SNOW GLEASON

CHAPTER I

TEDDY RAYNOR, her dark hair tousled, came into the breakfast room yawning like a small kitten and blinking a little in the strong May sunlight that poured through the windows of the apartment. "Good morning, Aunt Elsie."

The neat, smartly dressed older woman, already seated at the table, looked half affectionately, half reproachfully, at her sleepy and untidy niece, at the uncombed curls, at the belt of her housecoat trailing on the floor behind her. "Theodora, couldn't you at least use a comb before breakfast?" "Um, yes—perhaps," the girl murmured.

Then, her blue eyes became suddenly wide awake as she glanced at the mail beside her plate. "My friend again!" She laughed. remember Hugo, don't you, he and Teddy were reminiscing, and comparing notes on what they had been doing since they had last seen each other.

"Have you been getting those queer letters, too?" exclaimed Hugo. "Here! Read this!"

and held up a bright yellow envelope. Elsie Raynor frowned. "He is certainly persevering! How many weeks, now, have you been receiving one of those letters regularly every Monday morning?"

"I've lost count," said Teddy. "Anyway, it amuses me!"

She tore open the envelope and pulled out a short, typewritten note and a newspaper clipping. "Listen to this one, Auntie," she read aloud: "Dear Miss Raynor: If you will call at my office any day between 9 and 5 you will learn something concerning the cruise of the Golden Gull that would greatly interest you personally. Sincerely, John Smitting."

"Humph!" said Aunt Elsie. "Just an ordinary advertising trick!"

TEDDY glanced at the clipping. It was an advertisement similar to others she had received:

THE GOLDEN GULL CALLS YOU!
De Luxe Three-Week Cruise
Aboard Luxurious Motor Yacht
Every Day a Surprise!
Sailing June 15th
From New York

For details, write to John Smitting, Fifth Ave., New York City.

Teddy, with a shrug, laid the clipping aside and started opening the rest of her mail.

"Hello!" she exclaimed. "Here's a note from Hugo Albright! You curious, anyway, to see what he's like now..."

"How extraordinary!" said Teddy. "I mean the reference to your father!"

"Yes," said Hugo. "That's what got me. I'd thrown away the other letters. But the personal touch in this one made me sit up and take notice. In fact, I even had a detective agency here in New York get the low-down on Smitting."

"What did they find out?"

"Apparently, he runs a bona fide, perfectly reputable travel bureau. The only odd thing they found out about him is that he's a retired doctor—I mean, it seems queer that a physician would give up his profession to run a travel bureau. What has he been writing to you?"

Teddy described the peculiar letters she had been receiving. Then, she asked, "Are you, by any chance, thinking of taking the cruise?"

"I might—I have a vacation coming to me about that time. At any rate, while I'm here, I thought I'd call on Smitting and see what he has to say. My curiosity is piqued."

Teddy picked up her own letter from the man, and stared at it. "All right!" she said suddenly. "I'll go with you! I'm intrigued, too! Let's go this morning! Can you?"

"Fine!" said Hugo. Teddy jumped up. "I'll go and change. Be with you in a jiffy!"

'Y' COEDS ENTERTAIN AT BANQUET

Marine life was depicted on the walls and tables of the Y. W. C. A. rooms last evening when the junior college branch of that organization held its annual banquet there at six-thirty o'clock with many girls attending. Seines with clever fish caught in them were draped about, and colorful bowls of flowers had also been used in decorations.

The affair, which is in honor of incoming freshman women, was in the form of a dinner-dance, and members received their guests in formal attire. Miss Stella Christ, president of the group for the coming year, gave a short speech of welcome, outlining the plans of the college "Y" and its purpose, with a response by Miss Jackie Morrison. A program has been arranged under the direction of Miss Barbara Dales and Miss Lorraine Sweet, which was presented during the dining hour.

FRIENDS FETE ADAMSES IN NEW HOME

The attractive new home into which Mr. and Mrs. William H. Adams have just moved, at Costa Mesa, inspired a group of their friends to surprise them with a gay house-warming Sunday. They gathered at the home, which is located on the cliff overlooking the bay, bringing with them ingredients for a delicious dinner.

Mrs. Kenneth Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adams, had been told of the party earlier in the day, and sent a bouquet of lovely autumn flowers to add to the home's charm. A finishing touch, came with the handsome andirons and fire set presented the couple by the guests.

Two Parties Are Given At Laguna

Rather than one large party, the pleasing intimacy of the two smaller ones was preferred when Mrs. H. T. Duckett and Mrs. George S. Smith joined as hostesses in entertaining at luncheon and bridge this week. Yesterday and Tuesday found groups of seven and eight tables, respectively, in play at beautiful Hotel Laguna, where the hostess-duo received for a one o'clock luncheon.

Glowing autumnal colors made the long luncheon table extremely attractive, with deep golden roses, the vivid, golden flame of coxcomb, and the brilliant tones of tiny pompon dahlias offset by the burnished sheen of russet oak leaves. Little tally cards repeated the same motif.

Mrs. Duckett and Mrs. Smith chose to keep their hospitality completely informal, with the former wearing a smart pink knitted suit and the latter in equally attractive, with deep gold roses, of white. For the Tuesday affair they were assisted in checking their guests by Mrs. H. C. Wylie and Mrs. Coraly Thompson, and yesterday Mrs. Earl Morrow graciously obliged them in this duty.

Particularly lovely were the two high-score prizes awarded each day. First award, won by Mrs. J. E. Paul on Tuesday and Mrs. Mark Lacy on Wednesday, was in each case a triple crystal candelabrum, while second award, won by Mrs. W. B. Williams and Mrs. Walter Vandermast, respectively, was a similar sparkling crystal table adornment in the single style.

PRESBYTERIAN AID FETES BRIDE-ELECT

Miss Mary Lou McFarland, daughter of the pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and bride-elect of Stuart Meece, was honored at a meeting of the General aid of the church yesterday, when approximately 100 members feted her at a pantry shower. Her wedding is to occur this week-end.

Mr. Arthur Eels, president of the aid, made the presentation at the close of a business session, and after this the group enjoyed a delightful program. Mrs. Glenn Tidball read an original poem entitled "Joy to the Bride" and Mrs. Pearl Livesey contributed three charming vocal solos, accompanied by Mrs. Harold Rhoades. Billy Ward played three accordion numbers to conclude the affair, of which Mrs. Emma Prettyman was program chairman.

Committee for the day was composed of Mrs. Arthur Beckman, Mrs. E. L. Hull, Mrs. Hiram Curry and Mrs. Louise Wilson.

TEA HONORS RUSHEES OF SCHOOL GROUP

Dinner was served at a table at Daniger's centered with asters flanked by tapers nestled in beds of blossoms, and at its conclusion the group drove to the home of Mrs. Miller's mother, Mrs. P. R. Arnold. Here a series of amusing games occurred, at which Miss Bodman was prize-winner.

There he met a man named Henry Miller, who persuaded Kreiser to travel to California with him. At the last moment Miller was unable to go, so he sold Kreiser the ticket. Thinking he could not use it unless his name were "Miller," Kreiser changed his name to Henry Miller.

Who Pays for the Campaigns?

Southern Californians don't know must about Pete McDonough, but the people up around San Francisco bay have been hearing about him for 20 years or more.

Pete has been running a bail-bond business across the alley from the Hall of Justice, which might be considered, at times, a strange name for San Francisco's police headquarters.

Pete has waxed fat and prosperous. He has been called the underworld boss of a city that has plenty of underworld. The report made by ex-G-man Atherton branded him as the "fountain-head of corruption." His influence in police administration, vice, gambling and politics has, at times, been great.

McDonough money is dirty money.

Some time back Governor Merriam's insurance commissioner revoked Pete's bail-bond license.

That irked Pete no end.

So he sent $7200 to the headquarters of Sen. Culbert L. Olson, candidate for governor, to aid in the primary campaign.

Now San Francisco newspapers announce that Olson has, with commendable resolution, returned the $7200 with his personal check.

He should go further and dismiss from his campaign organization the men who accepted the dirty money in the first place.

They knew that to accept it compromised Senator Olson's position as a professed progressive who has waged his campaign as a champion of honest government and a foe of special privilege.

San Francisco will not be able to see the Democratic candidate as a standard-bearer of progressivism and decency so long as the men who took McDonough's money remain in control of the campaign in that city.

The Sacramento Bee points out, with point and justice, that Republicans have yet to disclose the source of their campaign funds, and that the time for them to become self-righteous will be when they tell how much "power-company money" has gone to the backing of Mr. Merriam.

But the difference is that Governor Merriam never professed to be other than a very practical politician, whereas Mr. Olson because of his professions must meet a higher standard to justify the confidence of those to whom he appeals.

Mussolini, who has been shouting "me, too," after each Hitler speech and who evidently has been suffering from depressed ego because of the German's domination of world news lately, ought to be happy now. He's the big shot at Munich.

Education In Czechoslovakia

By ironic coincidence, the U. S. Office of Education has just issued a bulletin on "Education in Czechoslovakia." In it we read:

"The Ministry of Education requires all secondary and lower schools to give definite instruction on universal peace. The outlines of the course in civics for secondary and elementary schools include the following topics: national culture, the League of Nations, civilization of all nations, general progress of humankind, equality among the races and nationalities, the World Court, international treaties and guarantees, war and peace, international pacifism, natural laws, man and world, fraternity, humanity and conditions of happy, peaceful life," etc.

It does the heart no good to dwell on the picture of Czechoslovakia's children boning up on good-will toward men at the very moment her wolfish neighbors were planning to tear her heart apart.

Lucky are the 33,000,000 young Americans who returned this month to school. And may their luck last!

Selection of Mussolini as mediator in the Hitler-Czech dispute is about like getting one of the boys off your own team to umpire the ball game.

The Junior College Petitions

A group sincerely devoted to the welfare of the boys and girls of the community is circulating a petition asking that the junior college proposition again be presented to the voters.

It is a worthy effort. The junior college campaign should be continuous until success is won—until construction starts on a plant worthy of the size and wealth of this community.

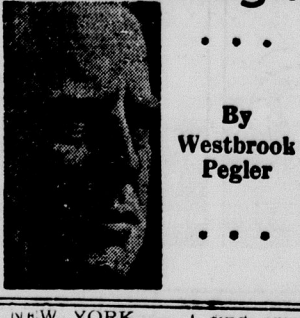

Even in defeat of the junior college proposition recently there was a certain element of victory. Approximately 4000 voters expressed their desire for an adequate college, while 2400 opposed the issue. The vote rolled up for the college, while lacking the required two-thirds, was a surprise to many a college supporter who feared, down in his heart, that it was a lost cause from the start. Some friends of the college did not participate in the campaign—some did not even vote because they felt it was useless—that the college did not have a remote chance of winning.

As in the case of the high school proposition several years ago, and, again, as in the case of the recent Ventura college issue, two campaigns are often necessary sufficiently to educate the public to such a need as ours.

Give the people another chance at the college proposition—and see it win.

People who are always on the go often don't go anywhere.

Fair Enough

NEW YORK. — I find among newspapermen and particularly press association men a sense of resentment against the misuse of the word "flash" by radio commentators, advertising copy writers and the journalistic ignoranti who have never covered a story or filed a wire. My friend Al Green, the night chief operator of the United Press, says this is almost sacrilegious to him. That is a strong word, but I get his feeling and share it. A flash is just what the word itself suggests. It seldom contains more than half a dozen words and is used to announce some happening of vast importance. It is followed by a terse statement of the news, called a bulletin.

Flash is the highest rating in news value. Bulletins come next. Then come stories in the natural order of their importance as news or entertainment. On a news wire a story must always give way for a bulletin. Any point along the system may break in on any story or bulletin at any time to send a flash, such as "Flash! Chicago. Earthquake."

The Very Idea!

There is no such thing as an "add flash!" and any bureau manager along a press association system who had the gall to break in with a flash as cheap as some of the announcements which nowadays are handled as flashes on radio programs would be set back on his heels.

Young bureau managers have made honest mistakes of this kind. In the early days of the World War a cub in the Pittsburgh bureau of the United Press broke into a heavy run of news one day with "Flash! Pittsburgh. Naval battle reported off New Jersey." Fred Ferguson, who was in the slot at the time, killed the flash, but the youth who sent it unfortunately was too far away.

The flash is a newspaper and press association signal to get ready for a story which will dominate page one. Flashes themselves, being quickly followed by bulletins and, as soon as possible, by a more comprehensive and coherent, though possibly brief, type of story called a "lead" are not intended to be cast in type at all. There is a dramatic spirit in the word, and it is rarely cheapened in the newspaper business.

Flashes Rare

Some bureaus do not have a flash in the course of a year, for a bulletin may not be of such importance as to justify the use of a preliminary flash.

The old method required the telegraph operator to yell "Flash!" But the mechanization of the telegraph business abolished this dramatic note, and flashes are now signaled by alarm bells on the mechanical telegraph printers. But cheap divorces and routine births, marriages and deaths are not flash material.

Some papers are more nimble than others in hitting the street with world-shaking stories after the warning flash. In Dallas in 1915 The Journal was entitled to a margin of 15 minutes over the rival Dispatch on flash matter received by the United Press.

The Journal, a rich and luxurious paper, with more machinery than Bethlehem steel and more red tape than a bankrupt, was paying the entire cost of a long telegraph line from Kansas City to Dallas. The Dispatch, also rich but very frugal, was operated almost single-handed by an underpaid but tumultuous youth named Ross Murphy, who got along with a hatful of type, one telephone and an invisible Remington typewriter that could have been used to crush rock.

Mr. Murphy received a flash on the sinking of the British cruiser Hampshire and the death of Lord Kitchener 15 minutes later than The Dallas Journal but was selling his extras in front of The Journal office while The Journal's libel lawyer was still trying to persuade himself that the British empire and Kitchener's estate would have no case under the horrible Texas libel law if the news were printed even if true.

THE CANNON'S ROAR
Once while campaigning in Iowa, "Uncle" Joe Cannon, late speaker of the house, was persuaded to attend an entertainment at a small public school. A boy was valiantly attempting to recite Byron's "Battle of Waterloo." Just as he reached the end of the first stanza, Mr. Cannon sneezed.

"But hush! Hark!" the boy belatedly. "A deep sound strikes like a rising knell. Did you not hear it?"

A second sneeze, more violent, followed.

"But, hark!" the lad shouted. "That heavy sound brakes in on more, and nearer, clearer, deadlier, than before. Arise! Arise! It is—the cannon's opening roar!"

"Put up your weapons, children," begged Uncle Joe Cannon. "I won't shoot any more."

"All right, then, but that gentleman over there took another cake when you weren't looking."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON. — Diplomacy has a habit of playing weird pranks, and one of the weirdest was the quirk of fate which picked out Wilbur John Carr from a tame and unexciting desk in the state department clerk of the dinner as scheduled. He had charge of all administrative details of the consular service, handled American embassy buildings, their equipment, clerks—all of the drudgery of diplomacy with none of its glamour.

After 43 years of routine, the state department a couple of years ago decided that Carr had passed his usefulness and picked out a nice quiet berth for him—Czechoslovakia.

Real fact was that Carr was being pensioned. His colleagues wanted to get him out of the way, thought he was too old, picked out Czechoslovakia as a good safe place where he could make no diplomatic blunders.

Carr had worked his way up from the lowly rank of clerk. He began 46 years ago, became chief clerk, chief of the consular bureau, finally assistant secretary of state. He had charge of all administrative details of the consular service, handled American embassy buildings, their equipment, clerks—all of the drudgery of diplomacy with none of its glamour.

After 43 years of routine, the state department a couple of years ago decided that Carr had passed his usefulness and picked out a nice quiet berth for him—Czechoslovakia.

And having picked that berth, almost every red-blooded diplomat in the service has suddenly become envious of Carr, would like to trade places with him. Hugh Wilson, ambassador to Germany, and a much younger man than Carr, fiew to Prague to give advice. Carr was polite, but indicated that he could run his own legation.

Prior to that, Mott Gunther, famous scion of the Gunther fur family and minister to Roumania, telegraphed Carr to give advice on such and such a date and asked Carr to arrange a dinner for him with President Benes. He said he wanted to report on Czechoslovakian conditions.

Gunther arrived as scheduled. Carr heard him as scheduled. But he did not invite the president of Czechoslovakia. He welcomed Gunther as a personal guest, but made it clear that he, Wilbur Carr, American minister to Czechoslovakia, was quite capable of reporting on all matters pertaining to Czechoslovakia.

Minister Gunther, liked and irritated, sent a special report to President Roosevelt complaining that Minister Carr had failed to cooperate. Roosevelt referred it to the state department and the state department did nothing.

Meanwhile Minister Carr has dug a bombproof cellar in the American legation and is having the time of his life. He doesn't at all mind his retirement.

Wisecrack heard around the state department that the French and British let down the Czechs: "The allies giveth and the allies taketh away."

Yale Game
The president did not stay up, as did the White House staff, to follow the count in the close Fay-O'Connor primary battle in New York City, but he asked for the returns immediately upon awakening next morning. Told that Fay had licked O'Connor for the democratic nomination, Roosevelt, grinning, remarked:

"Well, we may have lost the schedule, but we won the Yale game."

More than most people knew, the O'Connor "purge" was the Yale-Harvard football game for Roosevelt—the most important of the season. In the first place, personal prestige was at stake perhaps more than in any other race because it took place in Roosevelt's own state, and because there was a bitter personal vendetta between the two men.

Also, O'Connor was the bottleneck of all legislation in the house of representatives. Sitting as chairman of the all-important rules committee, he could bottle up legislation favored by the New Deal or push out to the floor of the house bills which the Administration opposed. This he did time and time again to Roosevelt's discomfiture.

Even if O'Connor, by some fluke, should win on the republican ticket, he would be off the vital rules committee. For he would have to begin at the very bottom of the congressional ladder as a rookie republican, with nothing to cheer him but unimportant committee assignments and the chorles of his colleagues.

This is something which no congressman of O'Connor's one-time importance likes to contemplate.

THE UNSUNG HERO

Since the beginning of time poets have spent their time in giving praise to the most futile and useless creatures upon the earth. They have always neglected the most good natured, the most important and if utility be beauty, the most beautiful animal that breathes.

Only Charles Lamb had the courage to wave his pen in praise of the pig and it was roast pig that he dissertated on. Even the Encyclopedia dismisses the pig with a contemptible "See Swine."

Do you know that the Columbus never could have discovered America if it hadn't been for the pig? He and his sailors lived on salt pork during that long trip; salt pork being the only food hardy enough to stand both heat, cold and sea sickness. Salt pork will go in where jerked beef fears to tread. It will keep longer and be still more nourishing than beef, chicken, lamb or for that matter any food in the world.

How about the gold rush of the last century? Those hardy pioneers had no time to go hunting for buffalo or Indians or any other food indigenous to the country. The hardy pioneers all brought barrels of salt pork and chunks of bacon along with them and you never heard of a hardy pioneer dying of starvation, did you?

Every bit of the pig can be eaten except the squeal and that can be put in a saxophone. In South America the greatest delicacy known is the ear of a pig. Not the ear of a skylark, or nightingale, or cuckoo, or eagle, or any of those other ridiculous creatures the poets have sung about. You can even eat a pig's feet. My God, what more can you ask?

Take bacon. What's better than bacon? Sausage maybe, but that comes from a pig, too. The ham sandwich is practically an American institution but I never heard any poet praise it. Look at your shoes. If they're any good the soles are made of pigskin. Look at your luggage. Pigskin, that's what. Why, we just couldn't get along without the pig and it's time that something was done to commemorate his excellence.

The time is especially ripe now for during the next three months the pig is going to get an awful kicking around. That's right, smart guy, footballs are made out of pigskin. Well, that's all I have to say—Quentin Reynolds in Connecticut Nutmeg.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politician is a puppet and takes notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag. Please limit communications to 350 words. The editor reserves the right to shorten all letters in excess of that length.

THANKS, MR. HAMMOND

To the Editor: I want to let you know how much we teachers appreciated your help in the recent bond campaign. Your editorials were masterpieces of style and force. Although we lost I am sure your vigorous defense of public education will have a most helpful reaction in the community.

D. K. HAMMOND,
Director of Santa Ana Junior College.

(Editor's note: The Journal, believing in public education, is happy to have supported the Junior College. We hope you have another opportunity to campaign for the college.)

What Other Editors Say

NO CONSPIRACY

"The law," sang Gilbert and Sullivan, "is the true embodiment of everything that's excellent," and which they might have added, "and which is at the same time, 'puzzling.'" The United States department of justice, after some investigation, finds it has no evidence that Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, by allegedly suppressing free speech and free assembly, violated the federal statute against conspiracies to deprive a citizen of constitutional rights.

This is the same statute under which the same department of justice recently conducted a long and hard-fought trial of 53 coal operators and deputy mine foremen in Harlan county, Kentucky, for conspiracy to evade the Wagner Labor Relations act. Of course, there were shootings and the like in Harlan county, while Jersey City police merely "deported"—or, as the victim asserted, "kidnaped"—Norman Thomas, socialist leader, to keep him from speaking. But this, the department of justice decides, like "the flowers that bloom in the spring, tra-la" has nothing to do with the case.

Is it that things which would evidence the conspiracy if done by wicked industrial barons are not evidence of conspiracy when done by men in blue uniforms at the order of a city official and party boss who says, "I am the law"? Perhaps it is too confusing and subtle for a layman.—Christian Science Monitor.

Science News

Corn has long been one of the greatest of botanical riddles. No body has known where it came from. Wild forms of most other grains are known, but corn has remained a botanical orphan. Not only does it lack any identified ancestors, but it has only two cousins in the Western Hemisphere: teosinte, which is a Mexican weed plant, and a wild grass named Tripsacum.

Now come two Texas scientists, Dr. P. C. Mangelsdorf and Prof. R. G. Reeves, with strong evidence that the ancestor of corn is corn—a primitive type of grain known as pod corn, in which each grain is covered with a tiny individual husk of its own. Pod corn is unknown in the wild state, but even as a cultivated plant it has certain definitely "wild" characters.

One suggestion that has in the past had the support of some botanists, namely that teosinte is the ancestor of corn, they dispose of very neatly adducing good genetic evidence that corn is one ancestor of teosinte, the other being the related grass Tripsacum. They hold that teosinte originated as a natural hybrid, probably when the migrating Mayas, about A.D. 600, carried corn into the natural range of Tripsacum in Mexico.

One difficulty about the wild pod corn hypothesis is that the Peruvian Indians, who without much question originated corn culture, are the only ones who do not grow pod corn at all. But, reasoned the two scientists, not unlikely the Peruvians had introduced their agriculture to such an advanced state that they discarded pod corn long ago, while less advanced Indians still used it.

So they leafed through old manuscripts, examined effigy pottery from the very earliest known Peruvian culture levels. Finally, at the Peabody Museum of Yale University, they found a faithful replica of a prehistoric ear of pod corn.

They do not feel that the wild form of corn is necessarily extinct. It may still exist, they think, in the little-explored unfertilized lowlands of south-western Brazil, Bolivia, or Paraguay.

I'LL TELL YOU....

BY BOB BURNS

The more two people are interested in each other, the more interesting their conversation will be to each other and the closer they are, the less apt their talk is to interest anybody else in the world.

When my Cousin Wafford was out here, he got a letter from his girl down home, containin' sixteen pages closely written. When he got through devourin' it, I says, "There must be a whole lot goin' on down home?" And Wafford says, "Well, I don't know—she said if anything happened worth mentionin', she'd drop me a postcard."

Who do you think gets the largest amount of "fan" mail of any motion picture star? The handsome and dashing Robert Taylor? Clark Gable? Shirley Temple? No None of them.

It is a man you never may have seen on the screen—Gene Autry. He does not usually appear in the big theaters, but in small theaters over the country. One month he received 38,000 fan letters. It takes eight secretaries to care for his mail.

He is so popular that the town where he was born in Texas is planning to change its name to honor him. The town is Toga, and it probably will be changed to Autry Springs.

You know that Bing Crosby sells a large number of phonograph records. Well, Gene Autry sells three times as many. Not bad for a farm boy!

Gene's father had a hard time scrambling out a living. He used to tie a half a dozen horses behind a covered wagon and go out horse-trading. Gene usually went with him. At night they camped and the father would induce the farmers to come and look at his horses. Gene would sing and after he got the farmers warmed up, the father would say:

"Here's a fine horse. Sound in limb and body. How would you like to trade for him?" And the dicker would be on.

When Gene grew older, he wanted to be considered a city man! He wanted to be a snappy dresser, to cut a swath when he strolled down the street. He got a job as telegraph operator and spent practically every cent for clothes. He tried to change his accent. Once he went to a hotel and actually registered from New York. (He had never been to New York.)

One day he read a clipping in a newspaper which changed his life. It was a plea to be what you are, with no pretense at being anything else. It made such an impression on him that he decided to be exactly what he was—plain, simple, farm-born Gene Autry. No airs. No high hat.

He got a job singing cowboys' songs on a radio station in Tulsa, Okla. His reputation spread. The people liked this home-spun lad. In collaboration with another man he wrote a song that became immensely popular—"That Silver Haired Daddy of Mine."

He made phonograph records. They sold like ice water to marathons.

The movies grabbed him. As his simple, natural, self, he made an almost instantaneous success.

Since that day, he has never worn a dress suit. No matter how he dresses in a business suit. One stage in his personal appearance tour (for which he gets $3000 a week) he dresses in cowboy clothes. He is himself—nothing more! A farm boy who can sing.

We can all learn from him. Be yourself. It will get you farther than all the pretense in the world. People recognize genuineness—and they like it. And they resent swank and despise affection.
